

HOME HAPPENINGS

—There are still many cases of influenza in and near the village as well as other ailments that keep people home.

—Mercury registered close to zero Thursday morning but as the day passed the weather warmed up considerably.

—Some men make money through the purchase of oil company stock. But what of the thousands who lose? Their names seldom or never appear in print.

—Rev. W. P. Hollister, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, was summoned to East Palestine Wednesday by the death of his brother, Fulton Hollister.

—Fred Mayer, basking in the sunshine of West Palm Beach, Fla., has the thanks of the Dispatch scribe for a coconut just as it was plucked from the tree by natives.

—The county normal school is not in session this week on account of Mrs. Conry, the director, being called home to Boardman to care for her daughter, who is quite ill.

—A huge snowdrift on the Niles & Lisbon railroad about a half mile south of Canfield caused several cars of southbound freight to jump the track, delaying the train more than three hours.

—Homer Dyce, who has the contract for carrying the mail between Canfield and Youngstown and operates a passenger transfer line, has added a Packard limousine to his already fine equipment.

—Just before quitting time Monday evening, Carl Kyle, operating a saw in the plant of the Canfield Mfg. & Novelty Co., had the end of the little finger of his left hand clipped off. Dr. C. H. Campbell dressed the injured member.

—A list of the names of Canfield men who paid income tax in 1919 has been posted in the lobby of the post-office. Later it is understood a representative from the revenue collector's office will come here and endeavor to ascertain whether the list bears all the names it should.

—A burglar alarm system has been installed in the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Leontonia, of which D. C. Dickson, formerly of Canfield, is cashier. A similar burglar alarm system was purchased some time since for the Farmers National Bank of Canfield and will shortly be installed.

—Several driveways of automobiles passed through Canfield last Sunday when the mercury was hovering around zero and the wind tearing along 40 miles an hour. Men riding truck chassis without cab or windshield protection nearly perished from cold.

—Walter Hill, who for a long time had charge of the store at the American Fire Clay Products Co., south of the village and made his home in Canfield with his sister, Mrs. C. E. Neill, died last Thursday of pneumonia at his home in Pittsburgh. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Louis and Clarence.

—The Dispatch last week was in error in stating that no red birds or cardinals were spending the winter in Canfield, according to reports from A. A. Manchester and Fred Huxsaw, the first having seen a pair of the birds on Lisbon street and the second a pair of the beauties on West Main street. Good!

—Arthur Klyne, who has been local trouble man for the Ohio State Telephone Co. for some time, resigned and will shortly enter the employ of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. as motor inspector. Mr. Klyne is an expert in electrical matters and will no doubt be in his new position just as he did in the one he leaves.

—Great cakes of ice being brought into the village now excite not the slightest interest, but next summer will look mighty good to the natives. Ice from 12 to 16 inches in thickness has been harvested, but the early crop with much thinner, dealers fearing to take a chance and wait for thick stuff.

—Carl Liddle, driving home in an automobile from Youngstown last Sunday night, ran out of gasoline and being unable to secure motor fuel or lodging, due to the fear of most people of being robbed when called up late at night, walked home while the wind was a hurricane and the mercury around zero. His face and ears were badly frozen and he has since suffered much pain.

—The local Erie station was burglarized one night last week. Several carriages consigned to merchants were broken open but two pairs of overcoats were the only articles taken from the freight house. Agent F. R. McCuskey had a corduroy coat hanging in his office and it was appropriated. This is the third time within a few weeks that the station has been burglarized but the most taken at any time was a case of shoes.

—R. J. Neff of Canfield has been named by Gov. Cox as one of the delegates from this county to the state to attend the Mississippi Valley Exposition to be held at St. Louis March 1-13. The purpose of the exposition is to exploit the products of the Mississippi Valley, which comprises 26 states and is bounded on the north by Canada, east by the Appalachian mountains, south by the Gulf of Mexico, and west by the Rocky mountains. A yearly exposition is planned to be held in some one of the large cities in the valley.

—A drop of 34 degrees in temperature came between last Saturday noon and Sunday morning—from 40 to 6—which is a plenty. During this time the gate from the north traveled 40 miles an hour, carrying sand-like snow that was next to impossible to face. North and south roads were banked with drifts, making travel out of the question. And this was about the order of things Monday until along towards evening when there was a slight rise in temperature. Rural mail carriers and others forced to go out in the storm Monday were in hard lines, roads being blocked, making detours necessary. And this order still obtains on some highways. Tuesday brought warmer weather, but in the night it got colder and more snow came, followed by more of the beautiful Wednesday, further adding to the troubles of road users. The oldest inhabitant does not recall winter when highway conditions were so bad for so long a period as this winter, due to huge drifts and deep ruts cut in the snow and ice. Travel has not only been difficult, but dangerous for weeks.

—John Delfs Sons shipped three car loads of hides the latter part of last week.

—Mayor Jones has called a special meeting of the council for next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

—Courts hold that new automobile law is constitutional and it is now up to Ohio car owners to secure 1920 license plates with as little delay as possible.

—At the meeting of Canfield lodge of Odd Fellows Wednesday night a committee was appointed to secure estimates of the cost of constructing a new lodge room in connection with another building to be erected the coming summer.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES.

This week, by proclamation of Gov. Cox, is known as teachers' week throughout Ohio. The people in the state are called upon to interest our young people in the teaching profession insofar as it directly affects the school people, it is our business to improve the teacher's status with the serious teacher shortage and the inducements that the teaching profession will offer in the future. It is estimated that one-third of the graduates in the senior classes of the high schools of the state are necessary to meet the teacher demand inside of the next two years, for the state will be short at least six thousand teachers and the possible number who will finish this year in the county normal, city normal and state normal schools is but a little over three thousand.

The department of superintendents of the N. E. A. meets in Cleveland next week Feb. 22-23. It promises to be a historical meeting.

The annual parents' day observed by the Greenford schools on the 12th was well attended and full of interest. The teachers and pupils of the Greenford schools are to be congratulated for this fine opportunity in bringing teachers, pupils and parents together in a conference capacity.

The county literary contest will be Friday evening, March 5. The contest committee have awarded the contests as follows: Readings to Sebring; essays to Greenford; orations to Austintown; original stories to Boardman. Practically every high school in the county is represented.

The attendance of the schools of the county as a whole is away below normal due to prevailing epidemics. A number of the schools were closed on Monday and Tuesday on account of the exceeding severe weather and inability to transport the children.

TABER-HEISER.

The Alliance Review last Friday contained the following mention of the marriage of former well known Canfield young people: "Miss Mabel E. Taber and Wilbur S. Heiser were united in marriage Thursday afternoon at the residence of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. F. J. Bryson officiating. They were attended by Attorney and Mrs. B. M. Skelton of Akron, Mrs. Skelton as a sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Heiser left immediately for a short trip, after which they will be at home at 110 Geiger avenue. Mrs. Heiser is the youngest daughter of Mrs. J. R. Taber. She was graduated from the Alliance high school class of 1915 and also from the Kent normal school. She has been one of the most popular instructors in the city schools for several years. She has also assisted at the Cooney-Walker store. Mr. Heiser is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Heiser of Berlin Center, and is a teller at the First National bank. He was connected with the Canfield bank previous to entering service in the U. S. Army."

1920 LICENSE PLATES HERE

Plates for 1920, for both passenger cars and trucks, are now available at R. D. Fowler's garage, Canfield.

While the Ohio Association of Automobile Clubs is attacking the constitutionality of the new tax law, the state registrar has authorized the issuing of plates with the understanding that in the event the new law is held unconstitutional refund of payments in excess of $5 will be made. The law has been held constitutional by both the common pleas and appellate courts of Franklin county and will be immediately taken to the state supreme court.

It is through the courtesy of the Youngstown Auto Club, who as a member of the state association is fighting this unjust, double taxation measure, and R. D. Fowler, local paid agent, that our owners of Canfield and vicinity are enabled to secure plates without inconvenience. All applications must bear the car number and in the case of Ford cars, the motor number. No charge is made for this service and no tags will be issued except during regular business hours.

DECADENCE OF CHEWING.

Dealer Attributes the Falling Off to War on Spitters.

"The crusade against expectorating in public places has cut into the tobacco business," said a dealer to a customer. "Some years ago I kept a tobacco cutter on my counter and a boy was so engaged in cutting plugs for the customers that he had little time for anything else."

"Now we cut up a few plugs in the regulation size and put them in a canister. Twenty-five cuts will last several days where we used to sell that many in a half day. However, what we have lost in that way is more than offset by sales of cigars and cigarettes and smoking tobacco."

"The war on spitters has stopped all that."

The Token

Country House Host (to arriving guest)—Hello, Jack! Drove over with Miss Caddis, eh? Ripping sleighing, but cold going, ain't it?

Jack (cheerfully)—I didn't notice it much.

Host—All right, then. Come in and thaw that earring out of your mustache.—Judge.

Most Charming

Citizen (to house agent)—I thought you said there was a charming view from the front windows? Why, there are only houses to be seen.

House Agent—So there is a charming view, sir. In the house opposite the most beautiful widow you ever clapped eyes on, and she's always at the window.

Even those who have the other cheek evidently believe that one good turn deserves another.
